The Summer Seminar in southern France is for faculty and staff of Dominican colleges and universities in the U.S. A study program for students is offered during the same time frame. Faculty, staff, and administrators reflect together on the Dominican vision then and now. Conversations involve the intellectual tradition of the Dominicans (aesthetics and theology) and the curriculum (justice and diversity issues). The seminar offers the opportunity to discuss implications for Dominican colleges and universities today.

Visit many interesting sites in southern France, including places that are special to the Dominican Order's early years. Proposed plans for the daily tours from Fanjeaux include Prouilhe, Toulouse, Carcassonne, Albi, Collioure, Montsegur, Grottes de Niaux (prehistoric paintings), and Chateau de Puilaurens.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTION

- Full-time faculty or staff member at Dominican University interested in participating and advancing the University community's dialogue about the Dominican mission and educational philosophy.
- Willingness to serve on a Dominican Dialogue committee that will seek to propose methods by which the Dominican history and mission can be communicated to campus constituencies.
